

"Musical Paris" – Sponsorship Opportunity

May 4/5, 2019 Oakville Centre for the Performing Arts

Focus: Local Community Connections

"Musical Paris" is the final concert of the 2018-19 subscription series. It features soprano Tessa Laengert (originally from Oakville), singing arias by Puccini and Charpentier, and award-winning pianist Christopher Goodpasture playing Rachmaninoff. The orchestra performs Gershwin's An American in Paris to complete the program on this fabulous season finale.

The Oakville Symphony boasts attendance of over 900 patrons on a concert weekend, with performances at 8pm on Saturday, and 2pm on Sunday.

We are currently seeking four community sponsors who will combine with a fifth to form a full concert sponsorship. Each sponsor contributes $1000 and receives the following benefits:

- The opportunity to provide us with a ½ page flyer which will be handed out to our patrons with their program
- A table in the lobby to display promotional material, manned by your company representative who could chat with patrons at both concerts
- Logo recognition on posters, in the lobby and on our website (including a hotlink)
- 2 slides in our pre-concert presentation to promote your business
- Recognition from the podium by the Chair of the Oakville Symphony Board

We hope you will consider joining us for this special end to our season.
